Heading into the final day of the 2017 ISA World Surfing Games, the host country Team France has made history and won their first-ever team Gold Medal in the competition. Team France got off to a spectacular start with Pauline Ado and Johanne Defay finishing with Gold and Silver in the Women's Division earlier this week, and now Jeremy Flores and Joan Duru have advanced to the Men's Semifinals, giving team France sufficient points to clinch the Gold Medal.

Team Spain, currently in second place, is not within reach to make up the point differential on the final day of the event.

With the team competition decided, the individual medals will still be highly contested on Sunday afternoon at Grande Plage, Biarritz. Eight surfers dreams of winning the Gold Medal are still alive.
